This book is dedicated to my grandfather
William Parley Groves
Who died Feb. 25, 1899

All the world's a stage,

*And all the men and women merely players;
They have their exits and their entrances;
And one man in his time plays many parts,
His acts being seven ages. As, first, the infant,
Mewling and puking in the nurse's arms;
And then the whining schoolboy, with his satchel
And shining morning face, creeping like snail
Unwillingly to school: And then the lover,
Sighing like furnace, with a woeful ballad
Made to his mistress' eyebrow: Then the soldier,
Full of strange oaths, and bearded like the pard,
Jealous in honour, sudden and quick in quarrel,
Seeking the bubble reputation
Even in the cannon's mouth: And then the justice,
In fair round belly with good capon lined,
With eyes severe and beard of formal cut,
Full of wise saws and modern instances;
And so he plays his part: The sixth age shifts
Into the lean and slipper'd pantaloon,
With spectacles on nose and pouch on side;
His youthful hose, well saved, a world too wide
For his shrunk shank; and his big manly voice,
Turning again toward childish treble, pipes
And whistles in his sound. Last scene of all,
That ends this strange and eventful history,
Is second childishness and mere oblivion,
Sans teeth, sans eyes, sans taste, sans everything.*

Act II.—As You Like It.

PREFACE.

In the midst of our busy life with minds trending through divers channels we are likely to cast aside with indifference the importance of history and perhaps even less are we willing to dwell upon the records of those who have gone on before. After all we are but a mere connecting link between our forebearers who have made our life possible and the future generations whom the world has not yet conceived. Let us, therefore, try to realize the importance of the preservation of our family records.

Realizing the importance of the preservation of family records, I set about in the year 1912 to gather all available fragmentary records pertaining to the origin and growth of the Groves family in this country. The vital records of Beverly and Brimfield, Massachusetts were first carefully examined and properly arranged. I further continued the work by conducting an extensive correspondence with town clerks and probate courts in the states of Massachusetts, New York and Vermont. After some effort I finally succeeded in establishing a correspondence with descendants living at Brimfield, Massachusetts, which later led to the discovery of other descendants living in Massachusetts and New York. In the course of this work I have written, received and answered one thousand letters to all parts of this country. I have personally examined probate court and register of deeds records in various counties. I have examined two hundred town, county and genealogical histories in four of the largest libraries in America. I have personally visited several of the localities herein mentioned in this little book. So much for the various sources from which the data of this history have been drawn and now just a word as to the construction of this book.

In constructing this genealogy, I have followed what I consider a most simple system of connection between the various listed families. By consulting the numbers opposite each name, the reader will discover that he or she can readily trace out any lineage either forward or backward. The names are numbered consecutively from the first ancestor to the last person listed. Where a second number appears in parenthesis, that same person is also listed in another place. Should the number in the parenthesis be larger than the other number, the name will appear further on in the book. If the number happens to be of a smaller nature the person will be found listed further back in the history. The reader should also observe that the index used in this genealogy refers to the numbers appearing before the names and not to pages in the book.

In the writing of this little history I have tried to be strictly accurate but nevertheless there will be found errors in many places and I hope the reader will bear with me the mistakes herein found.

In conclusion I wish to state that I have had the hearty co-operation of many kinsmen in the writing of this genealogy and to them much credit is due for the success of this book. I am sure that many of the descendants will rejoice with me to see the old records as well as the new, placed in a permanent form. As a final word I might say that I wish that I could personally thank each kinsman who has helped me in this work but as that is rather impossible, I can only extend to them my hearty thanks and sincere appreciation.

Very truly,

WILLIAM T. GROVES.

FIRST GENERATION.

1. Nicholas La Groves (Le Grove, Grove, Groves) came from the Isle of Jersey to Salem, Mass., before 1668. In Oct. 1668 he was one of the citizens there who signed a petition against imposts to the General Court of Massachusetts Bay Colony. He md. May 16, 1671 Hannah Sallows (b. 9, 7, 1654, dau. of Robert and Freeborn (Woolfe) Sallows, gr. dau. of Micha Sallows of Salem 1635, a landholder and freeman who d. 1646, also gr. dau. of Peter Woolfe, a freeman of Salem May 16, 1634, he d. Dec. 6, 1676 leaving a will. He received several land grants in Salem and was known as Sergeant. In 1646 he was appointed Lieutenant of a trained band of soldiers. He with his wife Martha were founders of the First Church of Beverly in 1667.) He was of French origin. His name appears on a list of French Protestant Exiles born "In Partibus Transmarinis" and represented as living in the colonies. They were naturalized by Royal Letters Patent, Westminster, March 8, 1682. He was an early settler at Beverly, Mass., where he purchased July 1, 1685 of John Black, a carpenter "in consideration of ye summe of Twenty & five pounds—a certain parcel of up land and meadow ground containing four acres, be it more or less, scituate & lying in ye Town of Beverly, & being bounded Easterly by ye land of Humphrey Woodbery, a stone & a stake being ye south-east corner bounds, southerly by ye land of sd John Black, a stake set downe by a rock being ye southwest corner bounds, Northerly by ye land of Anthony Williams & of said John Black, Westerly by ye land of ye said John Black, only ye sd Black doth reserve a cart way through a part of sd land unto ye house of Humphrey Woodbery. Jun'r as is exprest in writing concerning that way between sd Woodbery & sd Black—Ye said Nicholas Grove To Have & To Hold ye said land," etc. He was a seaman and likely a sea captain engaged in Colonial trade with the West Indies. It appears that he spent very little of his time at his home town. His family soon became members of the Beverly First Church. Hannah, his wife, being one of the first members. The family rapidly became Anglicized and adopted English customs. In the second generation the old French prefix "La" passed away and the name became Groves as it is at this day. He d. before Feb. 11, 1702-3. "Peter Groves, Freeborn Groves, Benjamin Patch and Susanna, his wife, of Beverly. Robert Moulton and Hannah, his wife, of Salem, all children or grandchildren-in-law of Nicholas Groves, late of Beverly, deceased, for the affection and duty which they owe to Hannah L. Groves, their mother, widow of Nicholas, quit claim to Hannah and their brother, John Groves, sailor, land inherited from Nicholas, dated Feb. 7, 1703-4." She d. 1718.

SECOND GENERATION.

2. (1) Nicholas La Groves—b. about 1645 in France. He was a Huguenot refugee and emigrated from the Isle of Jersey to Salem, Mass., prior to 1668. He md. May 16, 1671 Hannah Sallows (b. 9, 7, 1654, dau. of Robert and Freeborn (Woolfe) Sallows) and settled at Beverly, Mass., where he was made freeman March 8, 1682 and became a freeholder July 1, 1685. He d. before Feb. 11, 1702-3. She d. 1718. Both at Beverly, Mass.

39. (16) Captain Freeborn Groves—b. September 6, 1720, at Beverly and bap. Sept. 11, 1720 at First Church. md. Mary Bowen of New Hampshire 1758. "He was educated in England and having a large estate, which he inherited from his father, and ample means, and being well known in Massachusetts, entertained extensively. He had his negro servants, born on the homestead all bearing the name of Groves, possibly slaves. The first private carriage in Beverly was imported and used by Freeborn. The Revolutionary War was ruinous to him. He refused all the tempting offers made him by Governor Hutchinson and other friends, and threw his whole heart and means into resistance to the English. He lost two of his own ships, one being captured by the British, together with half of his fortune, which he was bringing over from England in her. Later he mortgaged his estate and raised money to fit out a ship with which to make reprisals on the English. Finally he went down on board of a prize he had taken and was himself bringing in, although all his crew were saved. This happened Sept. 4, 1782."

"The Groves estate said to have been purchased by Freeborn's father in the latter part of the 17th century. The estate was perhaps a fourth of a mile beyond the Old South Church, lower parish, on the Western side of Main Street and extended from a street which leads to Danvers and Royal side back on Main street through what is called "Groves Hollow," to the house once owned by a family of the name of Furness and opposite the Pierce estate. The Groves land extended all from Main street to the River. After Capt. Freeborn's death his widow married Jan. 12, 1783 Joseph Gliden of Maine and they lived on the old estate, she surviving her second husband and died about 1812 or 1814. After this the old Groves mansion was sold and the buildings either torn down or removed to make way for new ones. The old family record and the coat of arms were lost. The mansion of Capt. Freeborn Groves was square, two stories with a gabrel roof. It has been since removed, remodelled and now stands in the center of the "Hollow." "Groves Hollow" is still known in Beverly to the present day.

This he purchased from the U. S. Government for ten shillings an acre. At this time the country was a wilderness filled with wild animals and Indians. When the Black Hawk War alarm spread in May, 1832, he warned out the militia. He was one of the first settlers in the town, residing there when the township was organized in 1832. He was present at the first town meeting the first Monday of April, 1833, and was elected Overseer of the Poor.

He was an active member of the Independent Congregational Church (Unitarian) at E. Charlemont. He was a Whig, he embraced the Free Soil doctrine and died a National Republican. He was very fond of reading. He was highly esteemed in the neighborhood and by his friends as a moral and upright citizen. He was a merchant and carried on business at Rockville for several years. Later he removed to Bradford, Pa., where he was for twenty-five years one of the best known and most highly esteemed merchants of the city. He went there during the boom days of the oil development. In 1877 he opened a shoe store and by uprightness and strictly honorable business methods earned a reputation which endured throughout his business career. During the later years of his mercantile experience, his sons, Fred W. and George F., were at different times in partnership with him. However, up to his retirement, he always gave to his business the same careful personal attention which had characterized him in his younger days and much regret was expressed when the weight of years compelled him to seek rest in retirement.

He was a scholarly, refined gentleman of the old school, whose kind is all too rapidly passing. His home life was ideal almost to the end, as Mrs. Groves preceded him to the grave but a few months.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian church for many years and served for a long period as an elder of that society.
